FIVE FRENCH MILITARY PLANES ARE SEEN OVER PERPIGNAM BOUND FOR SPANISH FRONTIER

GERMAN DESTROYER AT ALGEICIRAS

COMMUNISTS PREPARING FOR NEW ATTACK

Berlin, To-day.

Five military planes, apparently French, were seen flying over Perpignan last evening, heading for the Spanish frontier, according to a message from Perpignan, to a German news agency.

Gibraltar: The warship which put in at Algeiciras yesterday is a German destroyer and not a cruiser and has now proceeded in an easterly direction.

A message from Berlin is to the effect that the German warships which were reported to be passing Gibraltar were presumably the cruiser and three destroyers sent from Germany on July 27 to protect Germans in Spain.

An earlier message from Gibraltar stated that a cruiser flying the German ensign arrived at Algeiciras yesterday. The name of the vessel is not yet known.

Gibraltar: British refugees from Malaga and other small Spanish towns who arrived here aboard H.M.S. Bulldog report that the Spanish Communists, in order to save ammunition, are cutting off the heads of the Fascists and throwing their bodies into the sea, many decapitated corpses having been seen off Malaga.

It is reported that the Communists are husbanding their ammunition with a view to the offensive which they intend to launch shortly against Lalinea, San Roque, and Algeiciras.

Passengers from Tangier declare that a foreign flying boat is constantly arriving in the various ports in Morocco, especially Melilla, and that General Franco continues to send foreign legionnaires to Algeiciras.—Reuter.

Rebels 30 Miles From Capital

13 GOVT. PLANES SHOT DOWN ON SATURDAY

Paris: The troops of the Spanish insurgents are now only 30 miles from Madrid, according to the latest reports here, which add that the Southern Army of the Rebels, with General Franco in command, is now quite close to Albacete.

The new objective of the Southern Army is said to be Toledo. The majority of the troops of the garrison of Valencia are siding with the Rebels. The adherents of the Left-wing have been keeping the barracks of Valencia under close guard since the beginning of the Civil War, to prevent the troops from joining the rebels. It is extremely doubtful, therefore, whether the troops in Madrid can be reinforced from Valencia, as the Government has been demanding.

Le Jour reports that 13 Government planes were shot down by the insurgents during the fighting on Saturday. The broadcasting station at Seville, which is in the hands of the rebels, reports that the transport of troops from Morocco to Spain took place all day yesterday, the troops in question being destined to reinforce the rebel forces which are advancing on Madrid.

The Civil Governor of San Sebastian, on the other hand, claims that the rebel army is not able to make any headway at all.—Trans-Ocean Service.

THE BERLIN OLYMPIAD

FIRST DAYS RESULTS GIVEN IN DETAIL

"CHINA MAIL" SPECIAL

Berlin, Yesterday. — The first day of the Olympic contests in the Stadium, opened at 10.30 a.m. with the preliminary qualifying heats for the 100 Metres which left little doubt that the United States runner Jesse Owens would emerge as the final victor in this event. Although he faced no strong opponents in his heat, he equalled the world record time of 10.3 seconds.

Europe has, however, one hope in the Dutchman Osendarp, who clocked the second best time with 10.5 seconds.

Weather conditions were none too promising early in the morning, the sky being completely overcast, but a moderate wind gives promise that the rain will hold off. Despite the early hour and the fact that only the preliminary heats were being run, the stadium was well filled by at least 50,000 spectators.

WAHIB PASHA EXPELLED

GREEK PREMIER'S ACTION

"CHINA MAIL" SPECIAL

Athens, To-day. The Government has just ordered the expulsion from Greece, of the former Turkish General, Wahib Pasha, who played a conspicuous role as military adviser to the Abyssinian Government.

The Premier, in announcing the expulsion order, emphatically denied that this order was made under heavy pressure of certain foreign Governments. — Trans-Ocean Service.

PADDY FIELDS FLOODED

Crops Damaged In New Territories

While a few landslides were reported on the island over the week-end, enquiries from the Water Police Station and the District Inspector, North, elicited the information that there was little damage done on the peninsula, though nearly all the paddy fields in the New Territories have been flooded.

The fact that a great deal of rubble has been washed down to the fields from the hillside will render the work of clearing the damage very difficult.

The Traffic Department stated this morning that all motor roads are open to traffic.

CHINESE GUNBOATS LEAVE COLONY

The Chinese gunboats Yuan Chien and Tung Chi left the Colony this morning for an unknown destination, although it is surmised that they are making for Hoihow.

WEATHER REPORT

The weather forecast for to-day, as issued by the Royal Observatory, is: South-west winds, moderate, cloudy, occasional rain with thunder.

FIVE BRITISH ATHLETES SHOW FINE FORM

Berlin, To-day.

Germany won her second field event, but the first in the men's section, when Woellke carried off the shot-put honours with a heave of 16.20 metres, which is an Olympic record. Baerlund, (Finland) was second with a putt of 16.12 metres, thus gaining the Silver Medal. The Bronze Medal went to another German, Stoeck, with a putt of 15.66 m. Cornelius Johnson, the U.S. Negro high-jump star who recently shattered the world record with a jump of 6 ft. 9 3/4 ins., won the Olympic championship yesterday, clearing the bar at 2.03 metres.

The second and third places were also secured by the United States, Dave Albritton and Hal Thurber, both reaching the two metre mark.

Finland recorded a sweeping victory in the 10,000 Metres event when they secured all three places, Salminen beating Askola by a yard in 30 mins. 15 4-10 secs., while five yards separated the latter from Isohollo, who came third.

China did not compete in the 800 Metres event. — Reuter.

AIR TRAGEDY

Search For Missing Passengers Given Up

PLANE IDENTIFIED ON ROCKS

London, To-day.

Hope for the safety of the occupants of the Jersey airliner has been abandoned, the wreckage of a plane found on the rocks having been identified as the missing plane. There are no signs of the occupants.—Reuter.

A message received yesterday was to the effect that lifeboats and steamers were searching heavy seas for an air liner carrying eight passengers, a pilot and a wireless operator, missing off the Channel Islands. The machine belongs to Jersey Airways and was flying from Guernsey to Jersey. The passengers include five British holiday-makers.

Practically all hope of finding the missing Jersey air liner was given up, when, despite a search by aeroplanes, lifeboats and a steamer, no trace had been found, apart from the report that a French air liner had spotted a float in an oil patch.

An aeroplane searching for the missing Jersey air liner, radioed that she has sighted the wreckage off the Minquier Reef, to the south of Jersey, and was descending to investigate.

MR. T.O.M. SOPWITH'S AMERICA'S CUP CHALLENGER DISMASTED

CUTTING DOWN THE GOLFER'S DRIVE NEW TYPE OF BALL MAY BE PRODUCED

PROPOSAL BEFORE R. & A. COMMITTEE

(By George Greenwood)

London, July 8.
A new type of golf ball, the object of which is to cut down appreciably the distance it can be driven, is in contemplation. With this end in view, members of the Special Committee of the Royal and Ancient Club met representatives of the golf ball manufacturers in London this week.

The R. and A. Committee believe that they have found a solution of the problem of limiting the ball's excessive flight without interfering with the pleasure of the golfer. Manufacturers will submit their reports, and it is probable that the committee's proposals will come before the members of the R. and A. Club at the general meeting at St. Andrew's in September.

It is expected that on a full shot the new ball will effect a reduction of between 20 and 25 yards. In some quarters this is regarded as a retrograde step. In others it is viewed as necessary to prevent the ruin of the game by stretching courses to such an inordinate length that golf becomes a test of endurance rather than of skill. For the recent Open championship Hoylake was stretched to about 4½ miles.

SWIMMING ACE

WONG Sun-man was born in Hong Kong in 1912 and was educated at King's College, where he took a prominent part in the basketball successes in the Senior School League. He was also in charge of the School's swimming section and, together with Kwok Chun-hang, was successful in one of the first South China harbour swims.

One of Wong Sun-man's earliest swimming successes was recorded in the long distance races held in the Canton Aquatic Championships five years ago, while he came second to Kwok Chun-hang in the 200 Metres breast-stroke event at the same meeting.

He was one of the four founders of the Mak Ngeh Swimming Association, the three others being Kwok Chun-hang, Chan Ki-chang and Wong Ki-leung (Wong Wing). Last year the Mak Ngeh Association won the water-polo and swimming championship at the Kwangtung Provincial Meeting held in Canton.

In 1932 he was selected to represent the Hong Kong Chinese in the China National Games in the 200 Metres breast-stroke event, but did not participate as he was taken ill at the last moment. Last year he played water-polo for Kwangtung against Hong Kong and Singapore in the China National Meeting held at the Civic Centre in Shanghai.

MRS. JARRETT TO BE EXPELLED

Discipline Must Be Maintained

Berlin, July 25. — Although it appeared yesterday as though the popularity of Mrs. Eleanor Holm Jarrett, American champion Back-Stroke swimmer, had obtained her reinstatement in the Olympic team as a result of a petition signed in her favour by the majority of the members of the American team, opposition made itself felt to-day in the American Olympic Committee which is responsible for the maintenance of discipline in the team.

After reconsidering all facts the committee felt itself obliged to uphold its first decision and to scratch Mrs. Jarrett. Her place in the 100-Metres Back-Stroke swimming race has been allotted to Miss Edith Motridge. — Trans-Ocean Kuo-min.

2 FAMOUS YACHTS IN MISHAP

OWNERS' BIG MONETARY LOSS IN MAJOR EVENT

"J" CLASS BOATS HAVE DEFECTS

(By Major B. Heckstall-Smith)

Plymouth, July 3.

MR. T. O. M. Sopwith's new prospective challenger for the America's Cup, Endeavour II, and Mr. W. L. Stephenson's Velsheda were both dismasted at Plymouth regatta to-day when sailing in the Royal Western Yacht Club's race. No one was injured. There was a strong south-westerly wind, and outside Plymouth break-water a considerable jump of sea.

Although an unpleasant morning, because of the heavy rain, it was not really bad weather. In fact it was exactly the sort of day our old English cutters like Britannia, Ailsa, and particularly Satanita, would have revelled in, with their gaff mainsails reefed and their jib-headed topsails set. The 40-raters and 65-footers of the past would have sailed the course with ease.

When I watched the three J class vessels put to sea this morning I did not expect to see them all return intact. I felt that a steel mast 153 feet above the deck was an unseaworthy contrivance should a vessel be hard driven to windward outside in the Channel.

Endeavour II carried whole sail whilst Velsheda and Endeavour I had reefed mainsails. Mr. Sopwith made a good start in Endeavour II, followed by Endeavour I, but Velsheda was over the line too soon and was recalled.

Both Together

So they reached away in a string, out of the eastern entrance, the new yacht leading, Endeavour I in her wake, and Velsheda astern. In this order they made the Mewstone markboat not far apart, and their sheets were trimmed for the thrash to windward to Bame Head.

They had made a couple of tacks, and travelled about half the distance against wind and sea, when the mast of Endeavour II broke off about 40ft up at the lower cross-trees. A few moments later Velsheda's broke off close to the deck. I suppose the two of them suffered nearly £8,000 damage.

J Class "Defects"

The glorious cotton canvas fell into the sea, and most of it was ruined in a few seconds. Endeavour I, after standing by and ascertaining that nobody was injured, returned into Plymouth Sound. Mr. Sopwith's motor yacht Vita went to sea and took Endeavour II's hull in tow, while Mr. Stephenson's tender Bystander hastened to the scene of the accident and attended Velsheda. Berlin, Yesterday. The Mayor of Pyrgos, Greece, sent the German Chancellor Herr Adolf Hitler, a congratulatory telegram on Saturday morning. It stated: "On the occasion of the arrival of the Olympic flame from our city at the Berlin Stadium, I greet you and the German people, and I congratulate you on the carrying out of that ingenious plan—Dr. Takis Vasilopoulos, (Mayor)." The Chancellor thanked the Mayor in the following words "on the occasion of the arrival of the Olympic Flame in Berlin, I thank you for your greetings to me and the German people, and return these heartily.—Adolf Hitler."

HELEN JACOBS ON MOTOR TOUR OF ENGLAND

Plays Last Match
For Charity

MISS KAY STAMMERS'S
NEW COSTUME

London, July 7.
Miss Helen Jacobs, looking remarkably fresh after her long struggle with Mrs. Sperling at Wimbledon on Saturday, when she won the women's singles championship, played in an exhibition match in the grounds of Sir Arthur Crosfield's house at Highgate yesterday.

The exhibition is organised annually by Sir Arthur and Lady Crosfield in aid of the North Islington Infant Welfare Centre and Wards and the 6th North London Scouts. A number of other tennis stars, including F. J. Perry and H. W. Austin took part.

Miss Jacobs played with I. H. Wheatcroft in a mixed doubles match against Miss Kay Stammers and J. H. Crawford, who won 6-3, 9-7.

New Departure

Miss Stammers created some interest by her departure from the conventional white costume. She wore a pale blue divided skirt and a white jumper with pale blue facings. Miss Jacobs wore a white fluff jumper and white shorts with a dark blue stripe.

"This is the last game I shall play until I start practising for the American championships," Miss Jacobs stated. "I am going on a motor tour through Britain and shall sail for home perhaps at the end of the month. Although I was terribly tired after Saturday I am perfectly fit again."

Among those who watched the play were the Earl of Athlone and Princess Alice Countess of Athlone, Princess Marie Louise and Princess Helena Victoria.

BASEBALL WASHED OUT

Owing to heavy rain, both baseball League matches scheduled for yesterday were cancelled.

H.H. the Aga Khan, above, has been seriously affected as a result of the recent influx of French race-horses into England.

Gittins Bound For England

S. V. GITTINS, the former Colony 100 Yards free-style swimming champion and Interporter, left the Colony for England on a year's holiday a week ago last Friday by the m.v. Potsdam. It is strongly rumoured that "Sammy" will be taking a course and subsequent examination in Economics at Oxford University.

Kwok Joined By Family

KWOK CHUN-HANG, who returned to the South from Shanghai in order to spend his summer vacation here, has been joined by the whole of his family, who left Canton recently owing to the political unrest. Kwok is at present swimming in the Colony and represents the Chung Shing Benevolent Society at water-polo. He was a notable absentee from the C.B.C. harbour swim last Sunday week.

Two New "Y" Swimmers

N. Booker and A. Keown, two of the Central British School's finest short distance swimmers, have joined the Junior Section of the European Y.M.C.A. They were seen in action for the first time in senior competitive sport a week ago last Wednesday in the triangular contest staged in the "Y" pool.

Chan So Now Plays Tennis

CHAN SO, who plays for South China in the "A" Division of the Lawn Tennis League, was in his younger days one of the best soccer backs in the Colony, partnering Gerrard against Shanghai in Hong Kong when the Interport series was revived in 1923. He was one of the few South China players who did not go over to the Chinese Athletic Association when that body was formed. A knee injury, however, ended a very colourful football career.

Lt. Williams Due For Home

Lt. J. P. Williams, the brilliant Army all-round sportsman and Interport cricket and hockey player, is leaving the Colony for home next November, and will not be accompanying the East Lancashire to India when they leave the Colony next January.

East Lanes. Soccer

THE East Lanes. are fortunate in that there will not be many changes in their soccer teams before they leave for India in January. Lawton, Carroll and Galsworthy are among the few footballers who will not be with the Regiment in India.

Logan's Interest In Bowls

W. LOGAN, formerly the chairman of the Victoria Recreation Club, now takes a great interest in lawn bowls. He invariably watches the matches at the Football Club every Saturday.

Lu Becomes Bowls Enthusiast

LU TAK-LAM, the Chinese Recreation Club tennis player, is showing great interest in lawn bowls, although the green at the C.R.C. is not yet ready. Lu is already making many enquiries as to how the game is played, what is "wrong bias" and other features of the game.

Graver Going On Leave

G. S. GRAVER, a member of the Hong Kong Football Club "A" lawn bowls team, will probably not be available next summer as he is due for leave early next year. He hopes, however, to take part in a few games while in the Old Country.

Henderson On Leave Next Year

THE Kowloon Bowling Green Club will probably be without the services of M. J. Henderson next season as it is understood that he will have gone away on leave by then.

Bowls Win For Lay

A. T. LAY beat J. S. Dimen by 21 shots to 19 in the Final of the Kowloon Cricket Club's novices scratch singles lawn bowls tournament. This is one of many events in their annual tournament.

Araculi Out For Season?

E. el ARACULI, the lawn bowls convenor of the Craigengower Cricket Club, and a member of their First Division "A" team, will probably not be playing again this season owing to an acute attack of sciatica.

Consul-General's Tennis Enthusiasm

COMM. A. Bianconi, the Consul-General for Italy in Hong Kong, is so keen on tennis, that he has had the court at his home in Repulse Bay fitted with floodlights so that tennis may be played even after sunset, and from all accounts these games are always thoroughly enjoyable affairs.

SENDING STABLES EN BLOC

EFFECT OF DEPRESSION ON HOME MARKET

H.H. AGA KHAN'S CONFERENCE

(By Hotspur).

London, July 6.

IT is likely that unless there is a rapid improvement in internal conditions in France there will be a further large influx of French horses into this country. For some time past they have been coming, so to speak, in single spies; now they will be coming in battalions.

I hear of several prominent French owners who are making plans to send their stables en bloc to England, not with any fixed idea of racing permanently here, but to run their horses out in their races and then try to sell them on their English form.

One prominent French owner, M. Pierre Wertheimer, instead of sending his 1936 crop of yearlings into training as usual in France, with a few exceptions, is sending them to be trained here by Frank Hartigan. M. Wertheimer has had a few horses sent to Weyhill every year for some time past, but in future he will be racing here on a much larger scale.

His smart filly Catherinette, who finished third to Night Song in the Queen Mary Stakes at Ascot, returned to France as she has a few valuable engagements to fulfil in the immediate future, but she is likely to be sent to England again later.

Future Of French Racing

These plans show what a gloomy view of the future of French racing is taken by those immediately concerned with it. It has been languishing for some time past, and the outlook grows darker instead of brighter. A few years ago the yearling sales at Deauville were of growing importance and were attracting buyers from far and wide.

For the last two or three years they have been hanging fire, and important breeders for sale have been disposing of their young stock privately instead of sending them up to auction.

His Best Buyers

It was a sign of the times when the Aga Khan, who has been a vendor in Normandy for some years, sent a few of his surplus yearlings to be sold at Newmarket last year, and sent them all there for disposal last week. Probably the best buyers at the Deauville sales next month will be English owners and trainers in search of bargains.

If racing were going through a bad time in England this French competition in our bloodstock market would be having a serious effect, and possibly some people would be demanding a quota. But fortunately racing is so prosperous in England at the present time, and the bloodstock market is so strong and so resilient, that we have been able to absorb all the importations without prices here having been affected. There are limits, of course, to all this, and a further enormous influx of French horses might not be so good.

Horses For Soviet

The French people have been able in the last few months to dispose of a number of their sires to the representatives of the Soviets, who have been coming to England and Ireland since last autumn for stallions, and whose wants, I believe, are nothing like satisfied yet.

They have made several more purchases of sires in Ireland during the last month. This, of course, is all to the good of the market, for they are not bidding enormous prices and trying to buy our best sires. Rather have they been taking surplus horses.

A Drag

Sires whose form on the Turf was shown in handicaps and who were not near classic form have been a drag for some time, owing to the virtual closure of foreign and Dominion markets on account of adverse exchanges.

The Russian projects for improving their thoroughbred breeding are on a vast scale. "Improving" is hardly the right word, for in the Revolution, and the years succeeding it, the thoroughbred horse virtually disappeared in Russia. Things are different now, and the Russian public is taking a great interest in racing. I be-

MAX SCHEMLING SAYS "NO"

He Will Not Fight Joe Louis Again

Hamburg, July 4. — Max Schmeling, who knocked out Joe Louis, the negro boxer, on June 19, said that he declined to fight Louis a second time.

He added: "I beat Louis clearly on June 19. For me boxing is not an affair of money but of title. My victory over Louis gave me the right to fight for the world's championship, and I shall insist on meeting James J. Braddock the next time I enter the ring."

lieve that there was something like half a million people present to see the last Moscow Derby.

A Good Market

It is probable that the Russian market for bloodstock will be a good one for some time to come at least, and until the Soviets have formed their own gigantic studs, which are projected, and of which they now have little more than the nucleus.

It is, however, on the home market that the English and Irish breeder mainly depends, and through all the bad times the home market has kept its level. There was a sharp downward curve after the boom of the 'twenties, but the curve is steadily upward now, and will be still upward if the yearling sales at Newmarket last week can be taken as an index.

Strangely enough, although racing is booming in the United States, there is no large demand from there for English bloodstock, although the projected sale of Blenheim for an enormous sum shows that our best horses are wanted there, but general buying is not yet on the scale of former years.

Aga Khan's Conference

I believe that when the Aga Khan returns from Geneva this week he intends to have a conference with his advisers regarding his sires, of which he owns more than anyone in England. Even if Blenheim leaves France he will still have three there — Ruston Pasha, Firdausi, and Bahuddin — the last-named of whom is at Mr. Benjamin Guinness's stud in Normandy. He has disposed of Zionist and Dark Japan, whom he had standing in France.

A premature statement to the effect that Taj Akbar was to be retired at the end of this season probably arose from the circumstance that Lady James Douglas wants a sire to replace Gainsborough at her Harwood stud. Gainsborough is still viable, but he is an old horse now, and cannot live for ever. She would like, I believe, to have either Taj Akbar or the four-year-old Theft, who, it is to be presumed, will not be raced after this season.

Germany And League Reorganisation

Frank recognition of the difficulties that lie in the way of those who wish to give renewed strength to the League of Nations is a prelude to satisfactory reorganisation. For that reason the somewhat confused character of the talk at Geneva is not to be regretted if it compels a more precise understanding of what is and what is not possible. Almost general agreement has been reached that there shall not be a continuance of sanctions. There is no haste, on the other hand, to recognise the Italian conquest. At some stage the question must arise again, but not until Ethiopia has begun to show some sign of the civilising mission upon which the Italians state that they are embarking. Many of the delegates at Geneva have expressed the hope that the League can be given a more universal character. That aspiration is shared by all, but none who hold it can be blind to the mountainous obstacles that must be surmounted before Germany, Japan and the United States can be induced to accept membership. Yet a more comprehensive League is the recognised preliminary to the effectiveness of the Covenant for peace.

Although many problems beyond its attitude towards Italy are looming before the League, interest must be diverted to the German reply to the British questionnaire which is expected shortly. If Herr Hitler seizes the opportunity given him he can do more to allay apprehensions in Europe than can discussions in Switzerland. Unhappily comments of the German press upon Geneva do not inspire belief that the German response will smooth the way to those negotiations for which Herr Hitler earlier expressed an earnest desire. "What do the British want?" asks the Frankfurter Zeitung; "a three-party solution or an Anglo-French armed camp into which the Germans are politely invited to enter?" The query can be answered at once. British desire is for friendship with both France and Germany and a complete understanding among the three countries. In a speech last month Mr. Baldwin declared emphatically that "it is our strongest desire to bring together France and Germany, without whose collaboration no peace in Europe is possible." If Germany chooses she can make her expected communication what M. Blum has called "a starting-point for a peaceful reconstruction of Europe."

Upon the German reply, and what follows from it, hangs the future character of the League. If Germany will not co-operate with the remainder of Europe in the Powers that believe in collective security must make what arrangements they can devise for their own safety. The League will continue, whether Germany consents to enter or not, but German participation is necessary for a treaty of peace in which all concerned will have confidence. The League, in short, cannot decide into what form it will mould itself until Germany has spoken. It must know what risks its members have to meet before reorganisation can be discussed in an atmosphere of reality. The neutral Powers that press for disarmament have ill chosen the moment for their plea. Europe could not disarm if faced by a fully-

Doing The Impossible

HE'll be able to do nearly everything that he did before except play the piano." Those were the words of the doctor who amputated Arthur Williamson's fingers in a Greensburg, Pa., hospital. Mr. Williamson was robbed, beaten into insensibility and left to die from exposure on the bitter cold night of January 9, 1930, near Greensburg, and when finally found and rushed to the hospital, his feet and hands were so frozen that he lost his fingers and three toes. But young Williamson, who loved to play the piano, would not believe his doctor. As soon as he recovered, he set about his piano studies anew, and to-day plays any composition in expert fashion.

Williamson says: "We only develop in this world by bucking up against something tough and doing it."

WEDDING BELLS IN KOWLOON

TERRY-LEYTON

St. Teresa's Church, Kowloon Tong, was the scene of a pretty wedding on Saturday when Miss Maria del Bufugio Leyton became the bride of Mr. Arturo Cuan Terhand, the Rev. Father Maestrini officiating.

The bride, who is the second daughter of Mrs. Maria T. de Leyton and Mr. Guillermo Leyton, former Chinese Consul in Alamos, Mexico, was given away in marriage by Maria Lowe.

The bridegroom, the youngest son of Mr. Juan Cuan, and Mrs. Rosa T. de Cuan, was formerly correspondent for the Oriental in Lima, Peru.

The bride wore a smart white silk wedding gown. She was attended by four bridesmaids and two flower girls who wore rose coloured gowns.

The duties of best man were undertaken by Mr. Jorge Cheng Condon.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the bride's residence. The honeymoon is being spent in touring the various Chinese ports. The bride, on leaving, wore a rose coloured dress with accessories to match.

KICKS STOP THEFT

Young Woman Foils Shop Thieves

Miss Freda Smith, a 25-year-old employee of a dairy in Hammersmith, tackled an intruder and prevented the shop till being raided by two men last month.

Miss Smith, who was alone, was seized by the throat by one man, but forced him to loosen his hold by kicking him. He crawled away on his hands and knees to the door, while his companion ran away.

Miss Smith fainted. When she recovered both men had escaped and her handbag was missing. She was treated for shock at West London Hospital.

WOMAN'S BRAVE ACTION

Paralysed Man Saved From Fire

A paralysed ex-soldier, Mr. George Walton, was carried to safety by a woman neighbour when fire broke out last month in his bungalow in Alexandra-square, Morden, on the Earl Haig Memorial Estate. The outbreak occurred in a box room under the roof.

Mrs. Walton, who fought the flames with an extinguisher, was burned about the head. Mr. Walton was seated in a chair and unable to move.

Armed Germany refusing to give guarantees of her future intentions. Even while we hope for the best wisdom dictates that the countries of Europe shall make themselves so strong that a breach of peace from any quarter will carry consequences that will deter aggression.

CHARLES-STREET SENIOR

Westminster's three Charles-streets are seriously disturbed at the London County Council's proposal to rename at least two of them. The object is to reduce duplication of street names.

It will be difficult for the authorities to decide which is to keep its present title. Charles-street, St. James's-square, is the oldest. It was built in 1673. It is said that the first reference to Charles-street, Berkeley-square, is in 1792.

If the plan goes through, Charles-street, Knightsbridge, seems certain to lose its name, as it is the youngest. The struggle will be between the other two.

The leaseholders of Charles-street, Berkeley-square, are organising a protest to the L.C.C. They consider that their street should have preference over Charles-street, St. James's-square, which is now principally occupied by offices.

NEW SHAKESPEARE FILM

Shakespeare, as a scenario writer, seems to have a future.

Following Warners' "Midsummer Night's Dream" and Metro-Goldwyn Mayer's "Romeo and Juliet," in which Norma Shearer and Leslie Howard will be seen shortly, comes the announcement that David Selznick is to make "Julius Caesar" for United Artists.

Ronald Colman will play Mark Antony, and other leading stars will fill the roles of Caesar, Cassius and Calpurnia.

"Julius Caesar" may be made in colour.

We're curious to know what goes on at the broadcasting station that makes people laugh so hard at the comedians.

QUARTER-MILLION GIFT TO SCIENCE

SIR HERBERT AUSTIN'S GENEROSITY

VAST IMPROVEMENTS TO OLD HISTORICAL LABORATORY

REALISING recently that much of his large fortune was due to the efforts of scientists and technicians, motor magnate Sir Herbert Austin, who is now a Baron, scratched his bald head, took up his pen and wrote to Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin, as follows:—

"I have for several years been watching the very valuable work done by Lord Rutherford and his colleagues at Cambridge in the realm of scientific research.

"Knowing that as Chancellor you are keenly interested in obtaining sufficient funds with which to build, equip and endow a very much needed addition to the present resources, I shall be very pleased indeed to present securities to the value of approximately $250,000 for this purpose."

A hurried word by "phone with Vice-Chancellor G. A. H. Wilson at Cambridge, and the Prime Minister found time between discussions on the Budget leakage to dictate the following:—

"There can be no greater encouragement to the men who devoted themselves to scientific research than to feel that their work is appreciated by those engaged in industry, the progress of whose businesses depends so much on the laboratories of our country."

History Of Laboratory

So a quarter of a million pounds will go to the laboratory where very high voltages are used to transmute matter by high speed particles and by radiation. Directing the work is famous atom-smasher New Zealand-born Lord Rutherford, O.M., F.R.S., 65-year-old Cavendish Professor of Experimental Physics, about as old as the Laboratory itself.

The laboratory, built in 1870, jumped into prominence soon after the war when Lord Rutherford bombarded the atom with radioactive particles, and saw it split. Chadwick went on to discover the new particle called the neutron, of the greatest importance to the investigation. There the Russian physicist David Kapitza, now recalled by order to Russia, worked

Later Discoveries

To-day, the Cavendish has passed on from the splitting of an atom, 100-millionths of a centimetre in size, to the study of its nucleus, several thousand times smaller, and it can now photograph a collision between two atoms, and the movements of the split particles.

How it can do it, the scientists themselves hardly know. Even the attic is being used for research. Main research rooms have old wooden floors, and if one worker is taking delicate measurements and someone else walks by, the creak he makes is as likely as not to be recorded on some sensitive apparatus.

When atom-splitting is going on such an electrical disturbance takes place in the room that dust from the rubble lying under the boarded floor is sucked up. Walls, ceiling and windows are now coated with thick, black grime.

700,000 Volts

Because X-rays are given off during atom-splitting, the scientists who carry it out have to get wood, hammer, nails and rough squares of lead to build their own little sheds for protection.

The total apparatus in the room can produce 700,000 volts. It is worth $2,000, but no scrap merchant would offer more than $5 for the lot.

Sums up Dr. M. Oliphant, assistant director of research: "The whole place is obsolete, entirely inadequate for the work we have to do."

MONEY DEMANDED WITH MENACES

Man And Wife Sent To Prison

GUILTY OF BLACKMAIL

A schoolmaster and his wife were sentenced at the Old Bailey last month for demanding money with menaces from a City man who was referred to as Mr. "A."

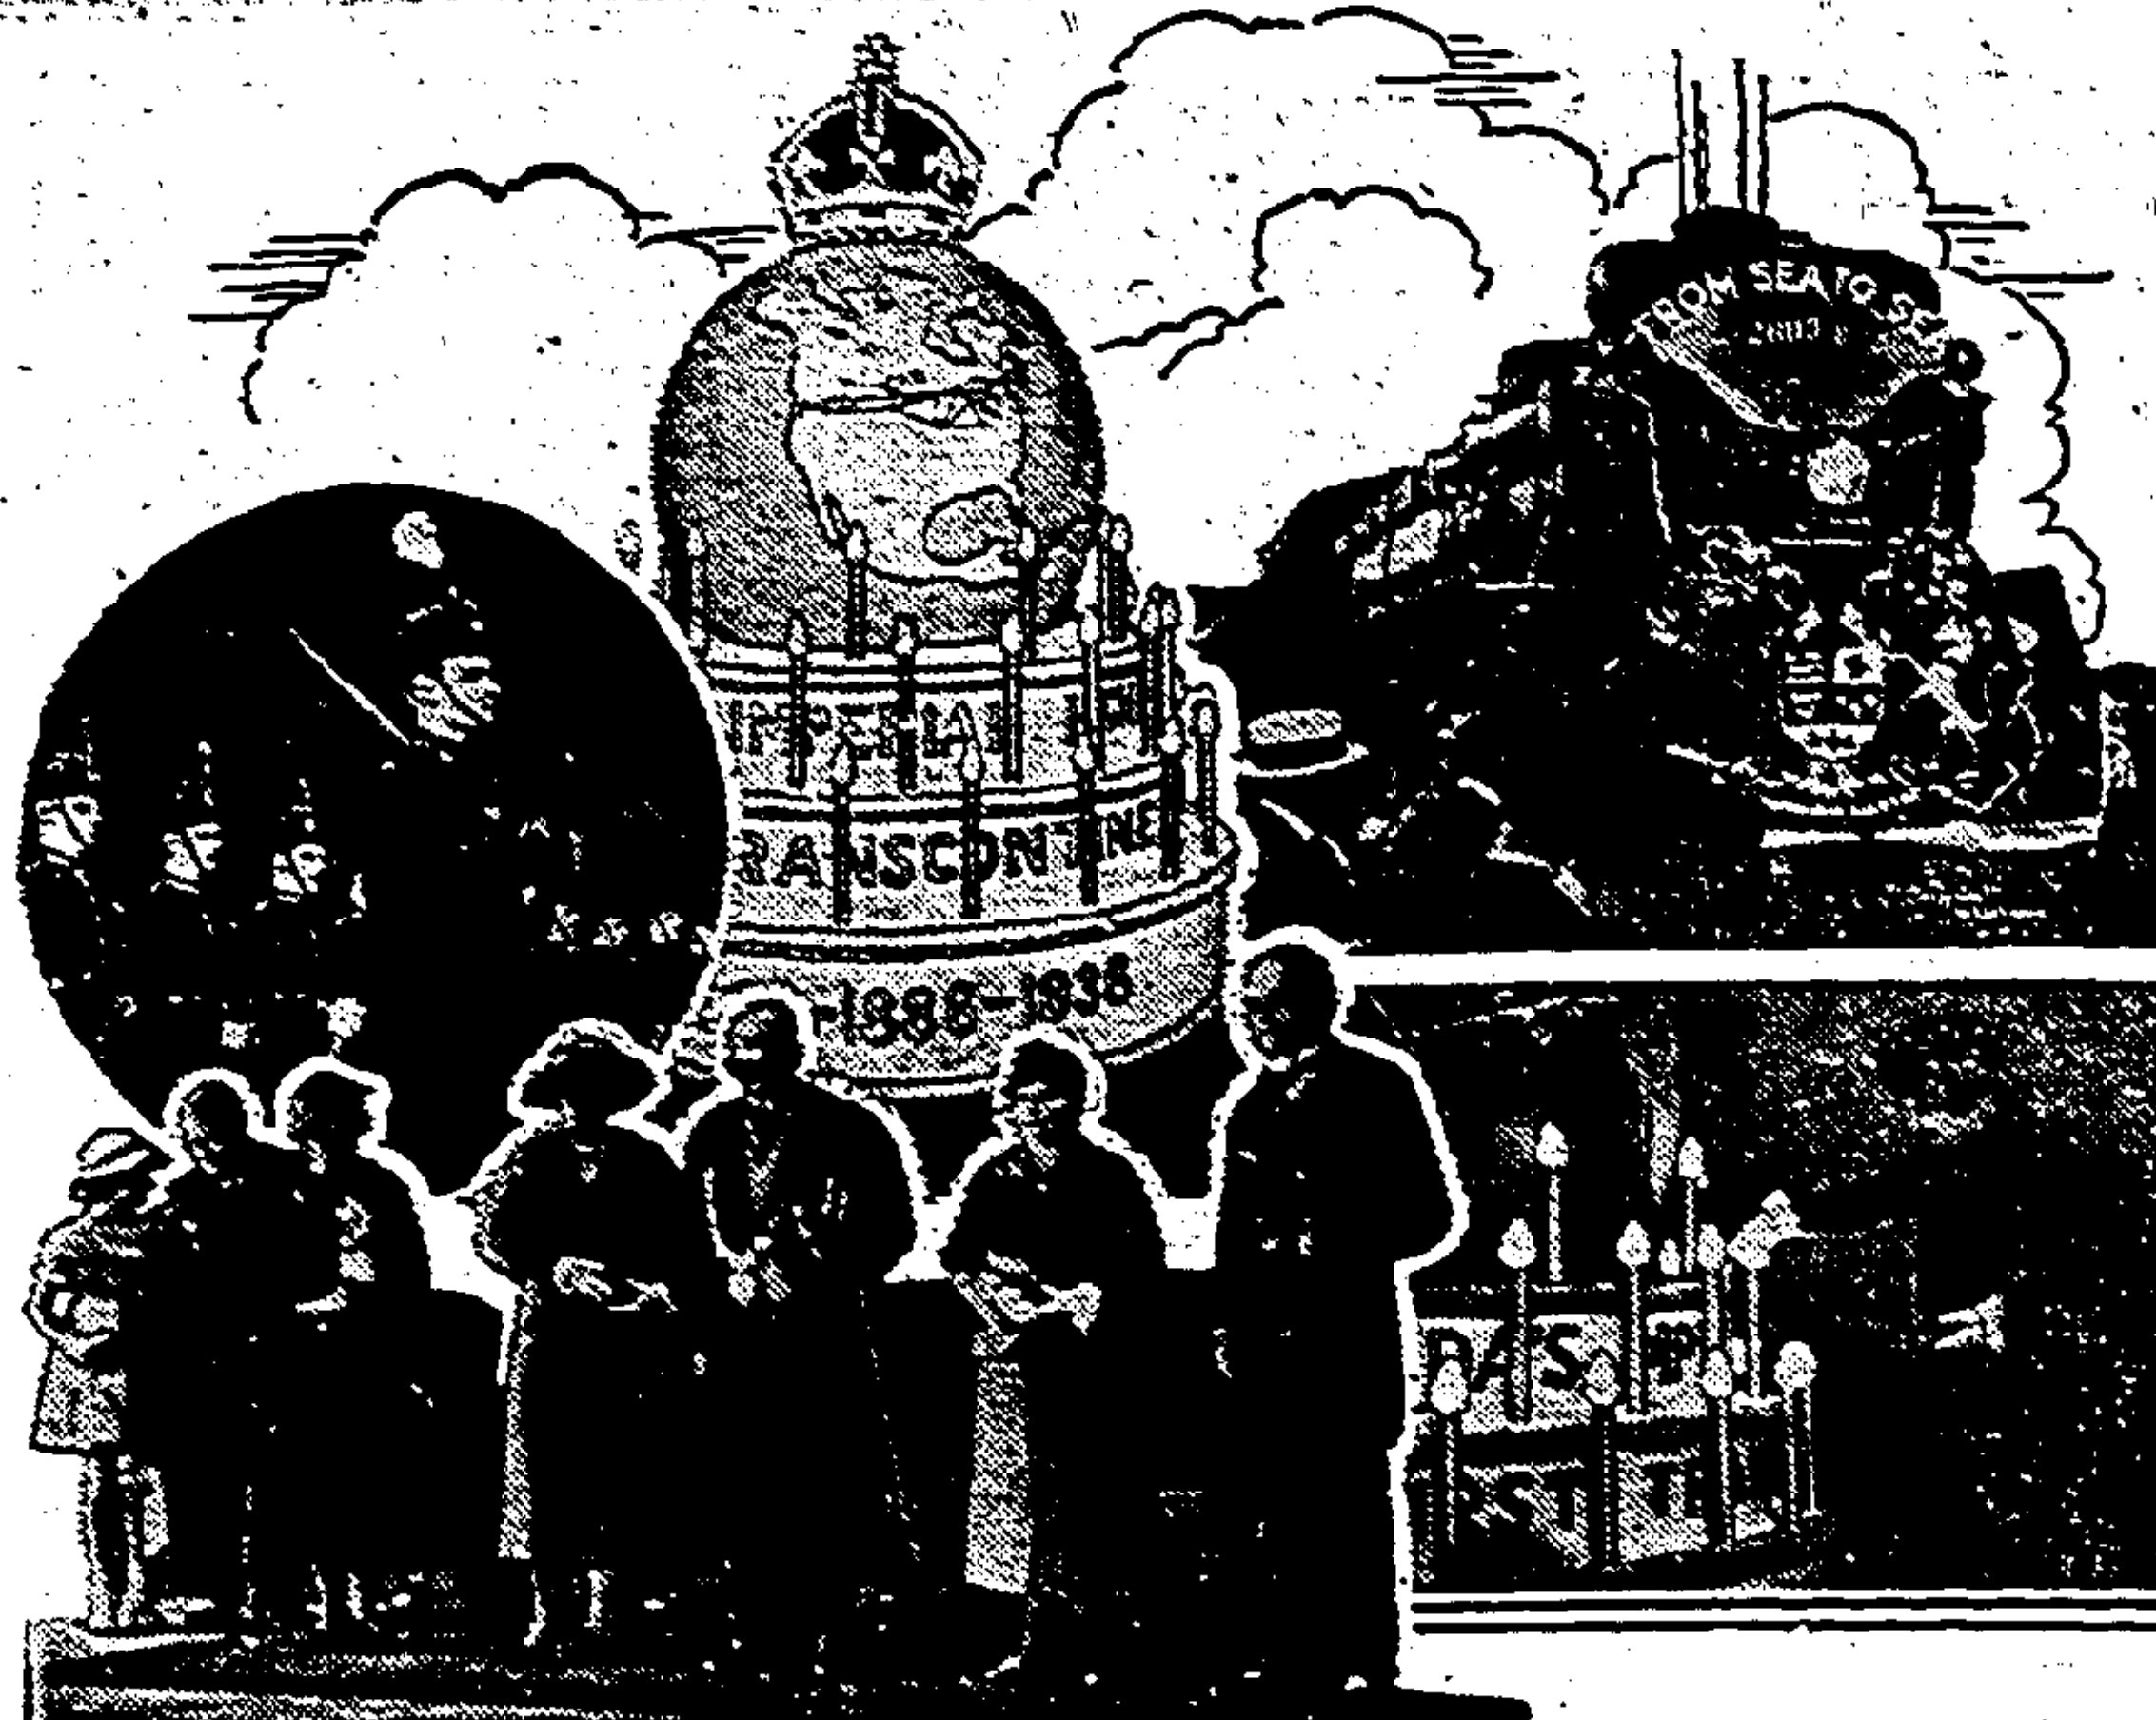

Dorothy Gabrielle Thursfield, aged 28, described as a secretary, of Ebury-street, Victoria, S.W., pleaded guilty, and was sent to prison for nine months. Her husband, Robert Charles Thursfield, aged 35, was found guilty and sentenced to 22 months' hard labour.

Thursfield, it was stated, obtained £125 from Mr. "A," who was a married man, and asked for a further £25. The woman was stated to have obtained £100.

Thursfield, who had one previous conviction, was said to have taught in England until 1928, when he went to Canada. He secured work with the Canadian Pacific Railway, later became manager of an hotel in Toronto, and returned to England with his wife in 1930.

NEW AIR SERVICE

The first through service between London and Stockholm was inaugurated recently with the extension of British Airways' service beyond Malmö to the Swedish capital.

Featured by a congratulatory telegram from His Majesty King Edward VIII, and in the presence of dignitaries of the state, outstanding members of the business and social world, railway officials and several thousand citizens, the Canadian Pacific Railway on Sunday, June 28, celebrated the 50th anniversary of the departure of the first transcontinental passenger train from Montreal to the Pacific Coast. The first passenger train to cross the continent, entirely in Canada, left Montreal on June 28, 1886, amid the acclaim of the entire nation.

The royal message, which was the highlight of the enthusiastic anniversary celebration on June 28, was as follows: "I sincerely thank all those associated with the Canadian Pacific Railway Company for their loyal assurances on the occasion of the Fifty-fifth Anniversary of this great Railway which ever since its inception has played so notable a part in the development of the Dominion of Canada." Transmitted to the company in the name of Sir Edward Beatty, G.B.E., K.C., LL.D., chairman and president, by His Excellency Lord Tweedsmuir, the Governor-General of Canada, it served as the spark to fire the enthusiasm of the notable assembly of several thousand at Windsor Station. The programme, colorful and impressive, was broadcast on a coast-to-coast network of the Canadian Radio Broadcasting Commission, and was completely recorded in still and moving pictures. In addition to the message from His Majesty and the military ceremonies, it included a message from Sir Edward Beatty, G.B.E., K.C., LL.D., chairman and president; addresses by D. C. Coleman, vice-president of the company, His Worship Mayor Camille Houde of Montreal, Hon. Marguerite Shaughnessy, who is daughter of the third president, Lord Shaughnessy, P. M. B. Roberts of the Edinburgh Scotsman, D. D. Graham of the London Times and others. Mrs. Camille Houde, widow of Montreal, cut a birthday cake six feet in diameter and nine feet tall. The Victoria Rifles of Canada, which supplied the Guard of Honor when the first train for the Pacific left 50 years ago, again supplied the Guard of Honor under Colonel I. W. Eakin. The band of the regiment, in addition to its concert music, played God Save the King as the Guard presented arms when the anniversary train pulled out. The long association of the Company and the Royal Canadian Mounted Police was recognized by Canada's great force. A detachment of the Mounties took part in the ceremonies, and added a touch reminiscent of prairie and mountain construction days.

The celebration was continued at Ottawa and all main-line points west to Vancouver and thousands came down to the suburban stations to catch a fleeting glimpse of the decorated anniversary train.

where the athletes marched past Herr Hitler, some giving the Nazi salute, while other gave the Olympic salute.

The Olympic teams were led by Greece, with Prince Paul at the head of his team behind the banner.

The French team were accorded a specially hearty ovation. The teams finally took up their positions in the centre of the Stadium, the multi-coloured uniforms and flags forming a unique and unforgettable spectacle. — Trans-Ocean Service.

Americans Surprise

As the American contingent were passing the Tribune there was a certain amount of whistling due to the fact that, not only did the Americans not give the customary salute (which was expected as it is not in accordance with the American regulations to dip the flag), but certain members of the team also failed to doff their head-gear.

The Chinese contingent in passing the Tribune did not give the raised-arm (Nazi) salute, but instead turned their eyes to the right in passing and at the same time smartly whipped off their hats, which were held over the left breast.—Renter.

Thirty-thousand pigeons were released to give the news of the opening to the world, while the crowd sang the National Anthem, which was followed by the Horst Wessel song.

Fire Kindled

A band conducted by the composer Richard Strauss then played the Olympic Hymn, the crowd joining in while the German runner carrying the Olympic torch, which had been brought by relay from Olympia, Greece, the scene of the first Games, entered the gate and ran to Herr Hitler's Tribune, where the German Chancellor kindled the Olympic fire which will burn throughout the Games.

Crown Prince Umberto, of Italy, was received by Herr Adolf Hitler this morning. Shortly afterwards the Chancellor received a visit from Prince Paul of Greece, who was followed by the hereditary Prince of Sweden, Prince Gustav Adolphe, who is taking an active part in the Olympic riding contests.—Trans-Ocean Service.

The general opinion of experienced yachtsmen is that the modern J Class yachts are cleverly and efficiently evolved for contests and light weather of the America's Cup races, but that for all weather conditions likely to be encountered round the coast of England they possess serious defects from a sporting point of view.

FRENCH WOMEN GOLFERS WIN FOURSOMES

Miss Corlett sank a two-yrder at the second and eight-yrder at the fourth for a "birdie"—3, making the British pair two up.

Out-driven

From the fifth hole, however, Miss Barton and Miss Corlett were out-driven by their opponents who began to gain the upper hand.

With the French pair getting into difficulties, first hitting into the trees and then being bunkered, Miss Barton and Miss Corlett won the ninth turn in 40.

The French pair squared at the tenth—175 yards—Mme. Lacoste's tee shot landing two yards from the pin for Mlle. Fay to hole out.

Miss Barton generally outdrove Mme. Lacoste, but she was very shaky on the greens. The French pair won the 13th and 17th holes for the match.

Nearly Perfect!

Playing almost perfect golf, a feature of which was Mrs. Garon's putting, the partnership of Miss Garonham and Mrs. Garon gained a lead of four holes at the eighth. They lost the ninth and turned in 39.

Mme. Munier and Mlle. Kafferer also won the tenth, but after that the British pair "walked away," taking the 12th, 13th, and 14th, to win by 5 and 4.

Missed Yard Putt.

Mrs. Holm and Miss Anderson won the first two holes from Mme. Vagliano and Mme. Thion de la Chaume, but the tide turned at the fourth, where Mrs. Holm missed a yard putt.

The British pair were three down at the turn, but they won

Cinema Notes From The TheatresTHE SINGING KID—QUEEN'S

Here's a "reel" romance—something new in movie matrimony.
Here, if you please, is a marriage between a "montage" and a medley.

All of which sounds a bit complicated, but, translated from film language, it simply means that a series of swiftly interblended screen picture flashes will be accompanied by a series of quickly changing snatches of various songs. The "montage" (quickly in-tercut picture scenes) has been used in countless movies. The song medley is commonplace. The conjoining of the two is new.

The "Singing Kid" combines rollicking comedy with heartthrobbing drama and spectacular musical numbers. Besides Jolson the cast includes Sybil Jason, Beverly Roberts, Edward Everett Horton, Lyle Talbot, Allen Jenkins, Claire Dodd and Wini Shaw.
The Yacht Club Boys and Cab Calloway and his band also are featured.

"MUTINY ON THE BOUNTY"
STAR THEATRE

This picture is a moving drama of mutiny and primitive love, and features Charles Laughton, Clark Gable and Franchot Tone in the leading parts.

Aside from entertainment, it presents an authentic visual document of one of the most notable chapters of maritime history—the mutiny on H.M.S. Bounty, 150 years ago.

In the annals of the sea there is no more fascinating story than that told of the Bounty, which set sail from England in 1787, bound for Tahiti.

"Mutiny on the Bounty" faithfully follows the original British Admiralty records and the sensational story written by Charles Nordhoff and James Norman Hall.

SPECIAL AGENT—ORIENTAL

This picture, with Bette Davis and George Brent in the stellar roles, is said to reveal the inter-workings of the U. S. Treasury Department, showing an entirely new angle of the Government's activities in wiping out the nation's public enemies. George Brent, in the role of a newspaper reporter on a New York daily, also allied with the Government as an undercover man, is trying to get evidence against the crooks and at the same time preventing them from murdering Bette Davis, his sweetheart, who has unwittingly taken a job as the personal secretary to the head of the band. Ricardo Cortez has the role of the polished, ruthless killer. Others in the cast are Jack La Rue, Henry O'Neil, Robert Strange, Joseph Creham, J. Carroll Nash and Bo-bert Barrat.

"COME OUT OF THE PANTRY"
—KING'S THEATRE

One of the brightest little scenes in "Brewster's Millions" was a burlesque of Bing Crosby by Jack Buchanan. In "Come out of the Pantry," his latest British and Dominions film, Jack follows this up with an even more delightful parody of Fred Astaire.

This is how it happens: Ethel Stewart, who plays parlour-maid to Buchanan's footman, is complaining to Jack in the kitchen that she wished they could dance like Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers.

"Why shouldn't we?" replies Jack, "let's try," and away they go, dancing over chairs and tables and among pots and pans in a glorious burlesque of the American dance team.

The music of the dance—called "From One Minute to Another"—was written by Sigler, Hoffman and Goodhart, who have registered so many successes recently, and the trip have written another number for the film, which Jack sings, called "Everything Stops for Tea."

The musical director for the film is Harry Perrett, who has been associated with Buchanan for a long time in films and on the stage.

BRIDGE NOTES

Suit Preference

By Ely Culbertson

The most widely discussed advancement in the play of the cards at contract bridge this year is the "suit preference" play. It is a principle of defensive play which recently has been adopted enthusiastically by many of the leading players. In the clubs there is much talk of this "new" principle.

As a matter of fact, this so-called new play was introduced in 1933, nearly three years ago, and I published it in a book less than a year later. The fact that it is so late in being recognised by the leading players is a sad commentary on their initiative and willingness to advance their skill at playing.

Briefly explained, the suit preference convention covers certain lead-directing plays and discards.
Every one knows that the "echo"
—a discard of a high card, or of a high card followed by a lower one—is a signal to partner to lead that suit when he can. Sometimes, however, the opportunity to echo does not arise. At such times it often is possible to use the suit preference convention.

Assuming that partner has a choice of leads between two suits, one throws an unnecessarily high card in any suit to signal for the higher of those two suits; a very low card to signal for the lower.

This convention first was brought to my attention by Hy Lavinthal of Trenton, N.J., before I had seen it mentioned in print or played by any one. Since then Mr. Lavinthal has developed many uses of the principle, and many good players and analysts have joined him in discovering new ways to use this valuable convention. I saw a part-score contract defeated recently by a simple suit preference play.

The bidding:
North East South West
Pass Pass 1S Double 3S [final bid]
West opened the club king and,
receiving the encouraging nine, continued with the ace. When East completed the echo West knew he could trump the third round of clubs.

Obviously West would next lead a club for East to ruff, and then West was anxious to have East lead back a heart, so that another club could be led. But West, under the methods in general play everywhere, would have no means of signaling for a heart return. The "echo" which East had used to call for a club lead was not available to West.

Using the suit preference convention, however, West had no difficulty in guiding East to the best defence, West's third play was the jack of clubs, which East trumped. Now, West having led a high card, East knew he wanted the lead of the higher of the two possible choices (hearts and diamonds). East led a heart.

West took the ace and led his denure of clubs. Dummy trumped with the ten of spades, but East overtrumped with the queen and this trick defeated the contract.

Without the suit preference signal East unquestionably would have shifted to diamonds, leading toward dummy's weakness. Declarer would have won with the ace and drawn trumps, shutting off the impending overruff of dummy.

Innovation In Cabinet

COLONIES PORTFOLIO
ABOLISHED IN BLUM
CABINET

It was reported from Paris on Wednesday that a Sports portfolio is allocated for the first time in the new French Cabinet being formed by M. Blum. The Colonies portfolio is abolished with the substitution of two Under-Secretaries for North Africa and the remaining over-seas possessions respectively, both being under the aegis of the Foreign Minister.

The three fighting services are placed under the Minister of Defence, M. Daladier, with Under-Secretaries for War, Air and Navy.

The Cabinet is divided into three grades: Ministers, Secretaries of States and Under-Secretaries.

Other portfolios are: Foreign Affairs, M. Dalbos, and Finance,
M. Vincent Auriol.

Women are included for the first time. The Under-Secretary for Child Welfare is Madame Lacore, and the Under-Secretary for Scientific Research, Madame Joliot Curie (daughter of the discoverer of radium).

The Under-Secretary for War is
M. Ruart.

$10,000 JEWEL
THEFTSPlot To Rob Mrs. C. B.
Cochran Abandoned

INGENUOUS METHOD INVOLVED

Thefts of jewellery worth $10,000 were described at the Old Bailey last month when two men and a girl pleaded guilty to theft and to conspiring to commit housebreaking.

John James, aged 30, clerk of Cambridge-terrace, Padington, and John Shorter, aged 32, clerk, of Camden-square, St.
Pancras, were each sentenced to 22 months' hard labour.
Hilda Margaret Rachel Collis, aged 22, domestic servant, was bound over.

Mr. G. B. McClure, prosecuting, said that in March, 1935, there was a plot to rob Mr. and Mrs. Montagu Salmon at a West End hotel. A man named Geoffrey Bottibol, who knew Mr. and Mrs. Salmon, arranged with James to get possession of keys to their suite.

When Mrs. Salmon gave a party last May Bottibol took an impression of the keys. In November James took rooms at the hotel, and was able to secure Mrs. Salmon's jewels, valued at $7,500.

Collis afterwards entered the employ of Mrs. Sandra Leslie, of Egerton-terrace, S. W. One evening she was persuaded to leave the side door open, and either Shorter or James stole jewellery valued at $400.

A $2,500 robbery was carried out at the home of Priscilla Countess Annesley, in Eccles-ton-square. In this case Lady Annesley's maid went to a dance with Collis, James and Shorter. While she was dancing Collis took the keys of the house from her handbags.

"Come On In The Water's Fine!"

Every summer, when the holiday season comes round, what a delight are the days spent in the open air, free from care and the hum-drum routine of everyday life.

But much of this enjoyment is spoilt if you are run-down, anaemic, a victim to back-pains, headaches, defective digestion, general weakness, lack sufficient energy to participate in the bathing, tennis, dancing, and other pleasures of the sea-side.

If you want to obtain the utmost happiness and fullest benefit from your holiday, it is wise to build up your blood, your nerves, your whole system, by taking a short course of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, the blood and nerve tonic which enriches the blood with haemoglobin (iron nutriment), oxygen and red-corpuscles at every dose.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are not a new remedy; on the contrary they have been famous for over half-a-century, during which time thousands of men and women in many parts of the world have testified to their remarkable tonic properties and curative excellence.

So, if you are ailing, weak, dependent, a victim to any trouble arising from impoverished blood or run-down nerves, start getting back to health and vigour to-day. Dr.
Williams' Pink Pills are obtainable from medicine dealers everywhere.

"The sporting enthusiasm of the German spectators made a great impression on me, and please tell everyone that we are all overcome by the warmth of German hospitality."

CLERK'S LETTERS TO "MRS. A"

Nine Months' Sentence For Menaces

JUDGE'S COMMENT ON WOMAN'S ACTION

Sentence of nine months' imprisonment was passed by Mr. Justice Porter at Staffordshire Assizes last month on William Hugo Jones, aged 36, a colliery weigh clerk, of Little Blorwich, Walsall, who pleaded guilty to two charges of demanding money by menaces from "Mrs. A," a woman of social standing. Jones also pleaded guilty to sending an obscene article through the post.

He pleaded not guilty to uttering a letter demanding money by menaces from a woman referred to as "Mrs. R." and on this count he was discharged, no evidence being offered.

At the police-court hearing at Rushall, Staffs, remarkable letters alleged to have been written by "Mrs. A." to Jones were read.

Good Social Standing

Mr. A. J. Long, who prosecuted last month, said that "Mrs. A." was a woman of good social standing. He spoke of the "gross filthy nonsense in one of the letters," written by Jones, and added that Jones described himself as a man of considerable wealth and of middle-class parents.

A number of fashionably dressed women listened to the proceedings in court.

Mr. Long, in outlining the case, stated that some time ago "Mrs. A." was involved in litigation. Her name and photograph appeared in newspapers.

"Vile And Filthy"

The first letter from Jones, received on February 6 last, was, counsel said "vile and filthy." It finished by inviting "Mrs. A." if she wished to correspond with him, to insert an advertisement in the personal column of a daily newspaper.

Unfortunately she did so, and a number of letters passed between the parties.

Counsel went on to tell how on March 14 "Mrs. A." went to the G.P.O. at Birmingham as the result of an appointment made with Jones through the post.

"When this woman," said Mr. Long, "turned up to keep this appointment the illusion was shattered. A terrible sense of the folly she had committed fell upon her, and she went away without speaking to this man. Incidentally, she found out he was not the man whose photograph had been sent to her by Jones."

"Mrs. A.'s Nerves Shattered"
Later, when Jones wrote, she sent a typed reply stating that she did not want to hear from him again. He then wrote saying that he incurred £10 expenses in the correspondence and would she go 50-50 with him in bearing this. To this "Mrs. A." replied but sent no money.

In other letters Jones said he would injure "Mrs. A." if she did not send him money, and she sent a total of £7 10s. During the correspondence "Mrs. A." had told Jones that she was "in terror of blackmail" and dared not communicate with the police or tell her husband.

When Jones wrote asking for £20, saying that he was going abroad, "Mrs. A." could not sleep. "Her nerves were shattered. Fortunately for herself she collapsed and told her husband," said Mr. Long.

Det-Insp. Lockley said that Jones was a married man with one child. He had never been previously charged with any offence.

"Truly Revolting"
Mr. H. A. Tucker, defending, said that Jones read reports of sensational cases and articles on sexual problems and had developed a great interest in sex matters. Many of the remarks in "Mrs. A.'s" letters were "truly revolting." It was "Mrs. A." who suggested that she knew a house near Leicester where they could go, and also suggested a meeting at Northampton. Her letters were "in most passionate terms."

One factor that induced Jones to plead guilty was that

In the First Round of the 100 Metres Poh (China) made an excellent effort in the fourth heat, leading from the start to half way, but he faded out towards the finish and, coming in fourth, failed to qualify.

In heat five of the same event the winner was McPhee, of Canada, with a time of 10.8 secs. Chen, China, made a good start in the eighth heat, but did not last and finished fourth. Borchmeyer (Germany) won in 10.7 secs. Lui (China) is not competing in the 100 Metres.

WORLD RECORD
Jesse Owens (U.S.) equalled the world's record for the 100 Metres, with a time of 10.3 secs., winning the 12th heat of the Fourth Round.

Jesse Owens in winning his Second Round heat in the time of 10.2 secs. broke the world record. In the High Jump Wu Pi-hien failed to qualify and Chen also failed to qualify in the Shot-put.

In the finals of the women's javelin throw, Tilly Fleischer, (Germany) won the event with a throw of 45.18 metres, which is an Olympic record for the event.—Reuter.

FORMER M. P. DEAD

Mr. Arthur Richardson, former Liberal M.P. for South Nottingham and later for Rotherham, has died at his Nottingham home, aged 76.

It would save "Mrs. A." from going into the witness-box.

Mrs. Jones, in evidence, said that Jones had been "an ideal husband."

Mr. Justice Porter, addressing Jones, said: "I am not concerned with your morals or with the morals of the correspondence. I see no reason to distinguish between yourself and the woman who chose to correspond with you. I am much more concerned with the demand for money which the letters contained."

"Were it not for the fact that I have taken the view that no large sum of money has been parted with, I should have sent you to a very long term of penal servitude. I am taking as merciful a course as I can be sending you to prison for nine months."
